

34 Things to do before summer's through in NYC

By Adinah

- Walk through MoMa's Rain Room (The installation of falling water pauses in areas where it detects a human body, so you can walk through (virtually) unscathed. R)
- Watch free outdoor movie in Bryant Park
- Picnic @ Central Park
- Check out Summer Streets (Saturday Mornings in AUGUST roads are closed and we can go biking)
- Visit Picnic Point on Governors Island via a free ferry and relax in hammocks
- Rooftop Bar/Lounge (230 Fifth)
- Shakespeare in Central Park
- Rucker Park
- Eat ice cream while walking on the Highline
- Music Concert in the City
- Take the A train all the way up to 190th Street and visit The Cloisters, a branch of The Met that displays Medieval European art. Re
- Celebrate Bastille Day on July 14th just like the French on Smith Street in Boerum Hill, Brooklyn. From 12 AM to 8 PM, visitors can enjoy French food, drinks, and a game of Petanque. Re
- Attend U.S. Open
- Margarita Tour of NYC
- Party at MoMA PS1's Warm Up 2013 on Saturdays into September. Advance tickets for the Long Island party are $15, where you can listen to music, drink, and play in the new 'Party Wall' installation
- Frying Pan, the lightship docked at Pier 66 Maritime in New York City.
- Coney Island and ride Cyclone
- Botanical Garden in the Bronx
- Ride the Citi-Bike share
- NY Philharmonic
- Take pictures on the Ferry with view of Statue of Liberty
- Swim in a rooftop pool, need 6-8 people to reserve cabana at Dream Hotel
- Go to Astoria Beer Garden
- Big Gay Ice Cream Truck

- Meander around one of NYC's Flea Markets (Brooklyn)
- Kayak around Manhattan for free
- Lincoln Center's Midsummer night's swing
- Beekman Beer Garden
- Walk across Brooklyn Bridge and order pizza from Grimaldi's
- Lemon Ice King of Corona
- Take a Bryant Park Yoga Class
- Mets or Yankees Baseball Game
- Go to Smorgasborg in Williamsburg/Dumbo on a Saturday Afternoon