

Casual House Party Checklist

By Kimberly French

- A few weeks before
  - Time Choose a suitable date. Weekends are usually good, especially with adults who work full-time.
  - Guest list Build your guest list. Decide if guests are allowed to bring friends.
  - Invitations Send your invitations, and plan at least a month ahead for major holidays.
  - Budget Write down a preliminary budget. Consider financial participation from guests.
  - Inventory Take an inventory of your party supplies.
  - Rental Reserve any rental supplies you may need on the day of the party.
  - Menu Plan your menu and write your shopping list.
  - Ordering If you are not cooking certain food items, order them now.
  - Potluck If having a potluck party, assign the dishes along with the invitations.
  - Entertainment Start building your music playlist, and plan some movies to keep kids busy in the evening.
- A week before:
  - Guests Confirm attendance with the people on your guest list.
  - Decoration Plan your decoration and go to the store to buy any decorating supplies.
  - Children If kids are coming, plan activities specifically for them.
  - Cleaning If having the party at your house, start the heavy cleaning.
  - Food Go buy the beverages and other non-perishable items.
  - Fridge Make space in your fridge for the food you will cook during the week.
- A few days before:
  - Cleaning Clean up what is left; do the dusting and clean your counters. Put the clutter of your house away.
  - Food Buy perishables and prepare the food that can be done in advance and kept in the fridge or freezer.
  - Photo/video Make sure the batteries of the cameras are charged. You wouldn't want to miss a great moment because of a dead battery!
- Day of the party:
  - Children If children are coming, child-proof dangerous areas.
  - Food Prepare the food that needs to be fresh, and buy produce for salads and desserts.
  - Decoration Decorate your table and your house.
  - Seating Take out the extra chairs for your guests.
  - Bar Take out the beverages for the bar. Don't forget to get ice!

- Snacks Take out the snack bowls and platters and set them on the table.
- Space Set aside space for coats and boots if your party is in the winter.
- Relax, sit back and enjoy your party! You've worked hard and you deserve a great time!
