Family Bible Study

By Checklist.com

- [ ] Choose this week's Bible story

  Choose a week from the 52-week Bible story guide or select a different passage from the Parables of Jesus or Miracles of Jesus. Read the question suggested for your chosen week before starting. The routine does not choose the story for you.

- [ ] Read the passage aloud

  Invite one family member to read aloud or take turns. Help younger children follow with a short explanation of unfamiliar people and places. It is fine to use a children's Bible for younger listeners, while adults check the reference in the full text.

- [ ] Retell what happened

  Ask someone to summarize the story in their own words. Identify the characters and the turning point. You can record one short sentence, or leave the response blank if everyone prefers to speak.

- [ ] Discuss two questions

  Start with this week's suggested question in the 52-week guide. Then ask: What surprised you? What did a character decide? What might we do differently? Give everyone an opportunity to respond without forcing an answer.

- [ ] Choose one action for the week

  Agree on one realistic action inspired by the passage. Make it concrete: invite someone, show kindness, make amends, help at home, or spend time listening. Decide together who would like to do it.

- [ ] Pray or reflect together

  Close with a short family prayer or quiet reflection, according to your practice. Family members may share a short concern or gratitude, but private information does not need to be recorded.

- [ ] Choose the next gathering

  Pick a day for your next session, and decide who will read or lead. You can schedule this saved routine in Checklist to make the weekly rhythm easier to keep.