

Holiday Travel Checklist

By Bianca Hendriks

- Before you leave
 - Create an itinerary Leave one with anyone who may need to know your plans, especially for anyone who provides you transportation to and from the airport.
 - Record important emergency numbers Add them to your cell phone directory or type out a list and carry it with you: airline, hotel, and car rental number, and second choice options.
 - Pack smart By limiting your checked luggage, you can avoid wasted time at the baggage claim or even possible loss of your luggage.
 - Music Bring your own to help you relax during the trip and to cover engine noise or unpleasant cabin sounds.
 - Consider any children If you are traveling with children be sure to have activity books, magazines, their favorite snacks and emergency child travel sickness medicine.
 - Cancel newspapers Also put a hold on your mail at the post office if you have a mailbox and not a slot in the door. Unless you have someone watching your home, you do not want deliveries piling up.
 - Pet sitters If you have pets, arrange for a neighbor's care or hire a pet sitter.
 - Plants Have a service come and care for your growing things.
- Important items
 - Passports These should be taken care of early, not last minute, if needed.
 - Travelers' cheques These should be divided and stored in several safe places if needed.
 - Book reservations Secure your flight and hotel months ahead of your holiday travel.
 - Pre-pay Some airlines offer $5 off baggage fees if you prepay on-line. Avoid too large or over-stuffed carry-on luggage.
 - Traveler's rights Know what they are especially during busy travel times when overbooked flights are commonplace.
 - Check-in on-line This procedure is quick and simple and can be done 24 hours ahead of our flight time.
 - Reserve airport parking If you plan to leave your car at the airport, reserve a spot ahead if you can.
 - Familiarize yourself with your airport For any delays, you may spend more time there than planned and knowledge of what services are offered could save you time.
- Off to the airport
 - Do not rush Allow plenty of time to get to the airport especially if your drive is a long one. If the weather is bad, or you expect heavy traffic, allow sufficient time for any delays.
 - Remember security There is no way to rush through this stage so gauge your time accordingly.

- Be prepared Have your boarding pass and ID in hand, wear slip-on shoes, and wear no belts or heavy jewelry.
- Upon arrival
 - Luggage. Collect anything you checked and don't forget your carry-ons
 - Transportation If you don't have a relative to get you, you should pick up your rental.
 - Double check return Before you leave the airport, double check details of your return flight.
 - Porter It is still customary to tip porters, so plan ahead and have some small currency.
